PATCHES FINGERNAIL TO IDENTIFY HERSELF

Temple, Ga., Feb. 17.—Miss Ruby Crawford, recently turned 22, has fastened her 3-inch fingernail back on, after losing it while arranging a hair-do. It seems that the overgrown nail was the only way that friends could tell Ruby from her blonde twin, Ruth, whose fingernails are of the average length. Both girls, besides looking alike have like hobbies; they have won distinction at free lance writing. Ruby is connected with the Temple telephone exchange; Ruth has acted as manager of the Villa Rica Breeze.

YES, CHILEAN SODA is good because it's "Natchel"—the only natural nitrate in the world. It's good for all crops, before planting or after. It's particularly profitable for side-dressing and top-dressing. It acts quickly, picks the crop up and pushes it to early maturity.

Newsy Notes From Nevils

Mrs. A. L. Davis and Mrs. Astor Proctor visited in Statesboro Friday.

Miss Maude White spent the week end with Miss Jessie Wynn, at Port.

Miss Uldine Martin spent the week end at Denmark with Miss Mary Frances Pook.

We have had quite a bit of sickness lately among our folks, but the flu has about died away.

C. J. Martin was very sick for several days the past week with a severe attack of appendicitis.

Little Sandra Sue Nesmith continues ill, and was taken to a baby specialist in Savannah Monday.

Mrs. Lloyd Nevils is now making her home in South Bay, Fla., where she is employed with a fruit and vegetable concern.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young had Mrs. Young's sister, from Middle Georgia, to visit here during the past week, and Mrs. Young's sister from Pembroke.

In observance of his sixty-sixth birthday Charles DeLoach was given a surprise birthday dinner on Sunday.

All his children were present to help enjoy the day except Mrs. Lloyd Nevils, who is making her home in Florida, having recently gone there to live.

The book show given at the home of Mrs. Ethel Proctor on Thursday afternoon by the February entertainment committee was largely attended, and quite a number of varied and really worthwhile books were given for our library of the school here. We are very thankful to all who gave.

Friends and acquaintances here have just recently learned here that Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Futch are the parents of triplet boys. They are former residents of this community, but now live in Tattall county. They have a number of relatives around here. The babies' names have not been learned.

The births of the week in this community were a daughter, which is yet unnamed, to Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Smith (before her marriage Mrs. Smith was Miss Vera Waters); a daughter, Shelby Jean, to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Hughes (Mrs. Hughes will be celebrated as Miss Myrtle Lee); a daughter, Sara Willette, to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lee (Mrs. Lee was formerly Miss Beatrice Strickland); a son, Frank Ellis, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson (Mrs. Wilson was Miss Annie Kanger before her marriage); and a daughter, unnamed at present, to Mr. and Mrs. Cohn Lanier at the Bulloch County Hospital in Statesboro (Mrs. Lanier will be remembered as Miss Ethel Nesmith, of Nevils); so at this rate you see our schools will continue to be large and still growing.

BOOK SHOWER

Of interest throughout this section was the book shower for Nevils school library given by the February hospitality committee of the Nevils Parent-Teacher Association at the home of Mrs. Ethel Proctor Thursday afternoon, February 13.

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. Ethel Proctor and Miss Ollie Mae Lanier, and the receiving line and committee of Mrs. Ethel Proctor, one of the hostesses and campus chairman; Mrs. W. J. Davis, president; Mrs. G. C. Avery, vice-president; Miss Margaret Matthews, secretary; Miss Olin Nesmith, treasurer; Miss Maude White, library chairman; Mrs. Bertha Futch, membership chairman; Mrs. Raymond Hodges, health chairman; Mrs. Johnnie Martin, hospital publicity chairman; Miss Margaret Loving, publicity chairman, and Mrs. H. H. Godbee, publication chairman.

The guests were shown by Mrs. Rufus Brannen to the dining room, where Mrs. Joe Brown, as hostess, was assisted by Edith Warnock, Elizabeth Proctor, Mary Frances Brown, Helen Lanier, Hadel Davis and Uldine Martin in serving punch cake, heart sandwiches, mints and coffee. Those in charge of the refreshments were Mrs. R. E. Kiklighter, Mrs. Allen Proctor, Mrs. Madison Rowe, Mrs. Astor Proctor and Mrs. O. H. Hodges. Miss Sara Hodges directed the guests to the register, in charge of Miss Mamie Lou Anderson. Favors in the form of tiny booklets carrying out the Valentine red and white color scheme were presented by Miss Myrtle Schwartz and Miss Mary Anderson, who directed the guests to the book room in charge of Mrs. Raymond Warnock and Mrs. W. H. Adams. Receiving the books at the door were Jean Brown, Latane Warnock and Beverly Brannen. Miss Dell Hagin checked each book for the donors.

Music throughout the afternoon was furnished by Mrs. Troy Purvis and her glee club pupils and Miss Betty McLemore, Miss Ouida Wyatt, Miss Billie Turner and Miss Grace Sparks, of Collegeboro. The members of the glee club taking part were: Miss Mamie Lou Anderson, Mrs. Martha Rose, Bowen, Uldine Martin, Jacquelyn Bowen, Georgia Belle Avery and Armlinda Burned.

The Valentine motif was carried out with the red and white flower decorations, red candles softly lighting the rooms, and white dress with red heart-shaped tea aprons worn by the six girls serving.

The hostesses at this occasion were Mrs. Joe Brown, Mrs. Raymond Hodges, Mrs. Rufus Brannen, Mrs. Ethel Proctor, Mrs. Madison Rowe and Miss Ollie Mae Lanier.

About three hundred volumes were received with only a few duplications. This will be a big asset toward beginning a new library.

The green hands who were initiated at the first of the school term received their green hand buttons along with the new candidate.

GARDENING GOES AHEAD

Mrs. Paul Groover announced this week that her hot bed is completed. She will be glad to have any club members of the county drop by to see this construction in her garden. Mrs. Groover believes that a hot bed is a very essential part of a year-around garden, and that this is the time of the year they are most needed.

CHANGING FOOD HABITS

Great grandpa probably never tasted a tomato salad, string beans—or a grapefruit. Great grandpa never knew the indication that comes from assembling a meal from a cafeteria counter. Great grandpa never saw a chain grocery store. And to him vitamins, protective foods, or fresh spinach in December were unheard of.

These are but few of the developments that have brought changes in our food habits since great grandpa's day. What some of these changes have been and how they have affected our diets is pointed out by Dr. Louise Stanley, chief of the bureau of home economics, U. S. department of agriculture.

"Both for better and for worse," says Dr. Stanley, "the food habits of the people of this country have changed markedly in the past few generations."

Today, we eat fewer natural and more processed and fabricated foods than we did before. Today we have a far greater variety of foods available. Tastes have changed. And there is much less difference than before in the foods eaten in different parts of the country—or from season to season.

"From the nutritional standpoint," said Dr. Stanley, "one of the most encouraging trends over the past 50

NEWS OF THE WEEK
OVER THE NATION

Happenings That Affect Diner Pails, Dividend Checks And Tax Bills of People

Practically all of the men who have testified in favor of the President's lend-lease bill have offered the opinion that a crisis of the war will occur within the next three months—and that it will probably take the form of an all-out Nazi blow against England, beginning with air raids of unprecedented intensity and winding up with the long anticipated invasion.

Secretary of the Navy Knox, for example, testified that, according to his information, the German strategists were now watching the long-range weather reports, and waiting for a time when an extended period of good weather can be anticipated.

There are many good reasons for believing that Germany will make her great effort before many more months wax and wane. Primary reason is the obvious one: that Hitler has a far better chance of winning if he makes his gamble before the country can send materials abroad in significant amounts.

Second, Hitler, many think, must move before Italy collapses entirely. She has become a drain on the Reich instead of an asset. Her reverses in Africa have almost reached the comic opera stage.

Third, according to some experts, English and American warplane production is now catching up with Germany. But it will be a long time before Britain can obtain enough ships to equal the strength of the sky fleet commanded by Marshal Goering. So it is logical for Germany to make her bid for victory while she has a decisive edge in the skies.

Fourth, there are reports, which cannot be substantiated in the light of the rigorous German censorship, to the effect that morale inside Hitler's Reich is slipping. Hitler's promise of victory before 1940 ended, and now seems farther from it than when the war began. There have been no signal German successes of late.

Evidence of a more material nature is also available. For the most part the Luftwaffe has lately been bombing industrial centers, and has been less indiscriminate bombing of cities. It now seems to be trying to knock out important British factories rather than to break the people's morale—an endeavor which completely failed. And air observers have seen frenzied activity along the German-occupied coast of the continent and in the ports which Hitler must use as the starting points for invasion.

It is obvious where the U. S. enters the picture. If England is to be really helped there must be a tremendous speed-up in our shipments of war materials. And, despite the claims of administration spokesmen to the contrary, the feeling persists that it will not be long before we are conveying British shipping. Germany's greatest demand to England has been in sinking merchant ships and, equally serious from the British point of view, destroying or disabling numbers of the conveying destroyers.

Hitler himself has said that the American ship—merchant or naval—which is put to the service of England in European waters will be sunk. There can be no question but what use of our navy for convey purposes would be an act of war, comparable with the sinking of the German liner. Yet Germany has shown no desire to formally break relations with us. Hitler has taken a great deal and done little in retaliation. Fear of the American navy is considered by many experts to be the answer to that. Furthermore, Hitler's record shows that he never increases opposition if he can avoid it.

In the meantime, debate on the lend-lease bill swings into high gear. Few members of the congress are opposed to all-out aid to England—the opposition to the current bill is principally based on the belief that it delete the food budget.

THE FARMER'S PIPE STAGES "BLITZKRIEG"

Rochelle, Ga., Feb. 17.—Ray Fogarty, Wilcox county farmer, thought the war headlines had come to life as he perused the paper the other night with his favorite pipe between his teeth. For to Fogarty's consternation, a veritable bombing raid suddenly took place right within the bowl of the pipe. Fogarty would carry his pipe in the same pocket with his 22 cartridge in the future.

Power Company Has Re-Financing Plan

Atlanta, Feb. 17.—The Georgia Power Company's re-financing plan involving more than $125,000,000, which is now before the Georgia Public Service Commission and the Securities Exchange Commission in Washington, is believed to be the largest financial transaction ever undertaken in this state. The company's application asks for permission to call in all its outstanding bonds for redemption and refundance with bonds bearing a lower interest rate. The program embraces other steps to reduce the amount of the bonded debt, lower its interest charges and improve the capital structure, the company said.

The state commission has set a hearing on the petition for Monday, February 24, at 10 a. m. The entire re-financing program has been approved by the company's board of directors and will be submitted to common and preferred stockholders at a meeting called for March 1.

Tobacco removes from the soil MORE POTASH than phosphoric acid and nitrogen combined.

TOBACCO is a greedy feeder on potash. In addition to its increasing yields, it is necessary for producing the smooth, velvety quality which brings the extra price.

The Georgia Experiment Station and Extension Service point out the value of potash in growing profitable tobacco. For average Georgia soils they recommend an application of 800-900 lbs. of a 3-10-10 per acre and within 20 days after transplanting a side-dressing of 50-100 lbs. of actual potash per acre.

Ask your county agent or experiment station how much available potash your soil will supply and how much to add to carry your crops through to more profit. Your fertilizer dealer will tell you how little extra it costs to apply enough.

Write us for our free illustrated booklet on how much plant food crops use.

.. Nobody's Business ..

(By GEE MCGEE, Anderson, S. C.)

THEN AND NOW

I counted 22 different toys on the floor of our rear sitting-room last Friday at the all-night sale.

—Mrs. art square had some prominent visitors from the state capital, including a game warden's wife and 2 members of the legislature. She left off both Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Head at the reception, and now 3 factions have got started in full blast and nobody knows which side to pick out to affiliate with.

—Some hard words have already been spoken on all 3 sides, and some of the legislators are now talking the nose straight up into the air on seeing each other took place near the post office yesterday p. m. when all 3 of the factions came putty night of walking hand into each other's presence and so forth, but after insulting one another, they turned aside and went their separate ways.

—The husbands of the afflicted socialites are also being fetched into the fray and much venom might yet come out of it. Hon. Holcomb Moore refused to give art square a chair of tobacco at the city hall this morning. This has never happened before, and the latter has always depended on the former for his chaw ever morning, but he will have to look elsewhere, so they say.

—Mrs. Moore was on the same duplex telly-foam line with Mrs. square, and now she won't answer no calls thereon as she is a-fearful that that hateful snapper was served by the Siltson chapter.

—I almost faint now if I happen to walk across the floor and let my barefoot come in contact with a pebble. When I was 14 years old I could run a rabbit a sight race (bare-foot) through bramb-bush fields, corn patches, freshly cut wheat fields, over rocky ground, up and down swamps, across ditches and gullies, jumping fences and crawling under foot-logs and never suffer so much as a scratch.

—Times have certainly changed since I arrived a-howling, so they say. Nobody any money back then; in fact, there wasn't any money; they knew anything of. A 5-cent piece bought so much attention that it was a salary basis. In our absence details of the proposed change can be obtained from Fred W. Hodges or L. M. Mallard.

—D. L. DEAL, HARRY S. AIKEN.

NOTICE

We, the undersigned representatives of Bulloch county, are contemplating introducing at this session of the General Assembly a bill to change the sheriff of Bulloch county from a salary basis.

—A prominent flat rock citizen SEVERAL RELATIONS WITH THE NEW DEAL

I have pitched my crop for 1941. I got tired waiting on the government for aid. It might be that they turned down my application for a seed loan for 768 other count of my being against the coast plan three years ago. I will paddle my own canoe elsewhere.

I will work the three acres I plowed up in 1940 in cotton and raise all I can. My family can hoe it and I feel sure my nabors will see that it is plowed under my spring row. I am always comes back on me about may the 1, and after it arrives I can barley hold a fishing pole.

SOCIAL ANTIMONY IN FLAT ROCK

The social status in flat rock has recently been split asunder as follows. It all started when Mrs. Holcomb Moore failed to invite Mrs. Tom Head to her bridge party, and Mrs. Tom Head retaliated by leaving Mrs. Moore off of

COLORED SCHOOLS
WILLOW HILL CENTER

Instead of the usual unpainted, flimsy, draughty, rambling farm house so typical of the rural south, one can now find at the Willow Hill center a prospective demonstration center at least two or more homes that would appeal to all who enjoy cleanliness, comfort, and the rugged beauty of rural life.

As we ride to the school, let us stop just before we get there at the house by the side of the road. We find a house newly painted. Each window and door is screened, a spacious veranda with comfortable rockers, a screened back porch used in mild weather as a breakfast room with a color scheme of green and white in pleasing tints. As one eats in cool comfort on a warm day, he can be refreshed not only by food, but by the fall murrewing pines, and the broad open fields of waving corn.

On going into the kitchen we find it immaculate and well-arranged as to convenience and utensils. The pine floor harmonizes well with the cherry red and white tint of the kitchen walls, and the crisp red and white muslin curtains attractively arranged at the window. At the end of the back porch the sanitary water supply, consisting of a pump with a cemented well, tempts us to enjoy a cool drink of water. The dining room with its two windows curtained in red and white as the kitchen, gives a spacious effect to the house.

The four large bedrooms, two on each side of the wide hall, have two or more windows that remain open at night as well as day, because of the protection of the screens. The ceiling of the bedrooms are painted white. The walls of the bedrooms are painted an attractive blue.

The front yard is surrounded by a picket fence which prevents stock from destroying the flowers and shrubbery growing on each side of the walk that leads to the door.

The answer as to how this change from last year was wrought can be found in the work program of the Willow Hill teaching staff. Through the emphasis on the program of the Willow Hill School this family determined to have a better standard of living. Although little money was available, the head of the family took advantage of the help as given by the government, and even though it meant a colossal undertaking, he grasped the opportunity of having the government supply the labor and material to improve his home. His efforts led another family to do the same, and even those who did not want this large responsibility were inspired and urged through the school-home club to make improvements.

So now as you drive through the Willow Hill prospective demonstration center you will see definite signs of improved living in the form of a new porch here, a sanitary toilet room in the center of the house, a painted house over the head of the hill, and a lady's room repaired on some other house.

The members of the Willow Hill staff, demonstrating their agreement with Clapp that one should not only survey the community to know its needs but should live in it, are known in the different sections of the county. Their influence is seen by the desire on the part of these families to improve in healthful living by a more balanced diet and by using the natural resources and native materials at hand to make the rooms more attractive as well as comfortable.

It can be seen that with a radio to bring to one all that is worthwhile in news, music or entertainment, access to a nearby town, emphasizing and having a balanced diet, as outlined by the life-related enterprise. Proper foods for the farm family. Life-related teaching real meaning and as thrilling as the limited advantages of an urban center.

WHY SHOULDN'T RICHARDS COLLEGE have more calls for office help—bookkeepers, secretaries, stenographers and assistants—than it can supply? It has been training them since 1882 (69 years), and yet it cannot supply the need of any size in Savannah or surrounding towns that does not have from one to a dozen employees of this college.

Shouldn't business men prefer Richards students? A certificate from Richards is issued only to graduates who have worked or at least one year, on a living wage, and signed by the employer and the head of the school. Richards students are trained in the business world and are ready to take charge of any business.
